

IRISH UNABLE TO AGREE ON PEACE TREATY

Situation in Dublin Continues to Be Extremely Tense.

Dail Adjourns Until Tuesday; White Leaders Seek Agreement.

Dublin, Jan. 5.—The Dail Eireann after holding brief morning and afternoon sessions today without making further progress in consideration of the Anglo-Irish treaty, adjourned late this afternoon until tomorrow morning when it will meet.

NEWSPAPER MAN IS KIDNAPED IN DUBLIN.

Dublin, Jan. 5.—A. B. Kay, correspondent for the London Times was kidnaped last night by three armed men while with other newspaper men in a grocery shop. There has been no word of him since his disappearance and no explanation of his seizure. The correspondents attending this morning's session of the Dail demanded his immediate release and the punishment of his kidnapers. Kay's friends pointed to an article he wrote recently from Cork, saying that some of the best of the fighting men of that city favored ratification of the Irish treaty, as a possible reason for his abduction. They said he was warned at that time to leave Cork on the threat that he be "put in a vault with corpses and a candle." They were of the opinion that he had been taken to Cork and that he might be returned here today.

In private session to hear the report of the unofficial committee which is trying to find a basis for an agreement.

The situation on the Dail Eireann was still deadlocked when it reconvened shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon having met and immediately adjourned this morning. During the recess, it was learned, a joint meeting of leaders opposing and favoring the Anglo-Irish treaty held a meeting and canvassed various possibilities for reaching an agreement but without avail.

DE VALERA PROPOSES "TREATY OF AMITY"

Dublin, Jan. 5.—On the resumption of the Dail Eireann, the new version of Eamon De Valera's amendment was distributed to the members. It proposes a treaty of amity and association between Ireland and Great Britain and the other states of British commonwealth. The amendment provides: "That inasmuch as the articles of agreement for a treaty between Great Britain and Ireland signed at London, December 6, 1921, do not reconcile national aspirations and the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British commonwealth, and cannot be the basis of an enduring peace between the Irish, British peoples, Dail Eireann in the name of the sovereign Irish nation, makes to the government of Great Britain and to the governments of the other states in the British commonwealth and to the peoples of Great Britain and of these several states the following proposal for a treaty of amity and association which the Dail Eireann is convinced could be entered into by the Irish people with the sincerity and good will."

The complete text of the proposals it was announced would be put in the hands of the delegates before the motion was moved.

Mr. De Valera, after sharp exchanges with Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins over the much mooted "document number 2," announced that he would move his alternative proposals Friday as an amendment to the Griffith motion for ratification of the treaty.

The question was raised whether Mr. De Valera, under the rules of the debate, would be permitted to make another speech.

LEADER PREDICTS DEFEAT OF TREATY

I take full responsibility for making that statement," continued Walsh.

He went to America, and presently set out for his return, accompanied by a party of interested persons. It was here that the soviets intervened. They had already looked with

KILL BANKER; GET $12,000

Chicago, Jan. 5.—John Soffel, president of the Maywood State bank, was shot and killed, and Louis Sweeney, chief of police of the suburb, and Arthur Benson, a bank messenger, were wounded today when five bandits robbed them of a $12,000 payroll for the Maywood plant of the American Can company.

The bandits did not give the banker and his two guards a chance to hold up their hands. They ordered the payroll car to stop, and as it came to a halt opened fire, killing Soffel almost instantly.

Chief Sweeney was shot under the right arm and Benson in the side. The latter's injuries are serious. The entire robbery occupied less than three minutes. The robbers drove away with the money, heading toward Chicago. The scene of the holdup was only two blocks from the bank.

Chief Sweeney said he was shot as the bank messenger guided the automobile to a stop and that Benson was the second to fall. Mr. Soffel stood up and attempted to draw his revolver, when he was shot dead.

Sweeney, despite his wound, ran to the bank two blocks away and in the alarm. Chicago police dispatched three rifle squads and placed guards on all roads from Maywood. The suburb is 11 miles west of the loop.

Witnesses of the holdup obtained the license number of the bandits automobile, but police say the tag was issued to the owner of a different make of car, who lives near Rutland, Illinois.

Milady's Boudoir

Chapped Lips. Chapped lips are a constant annoyance in winter time. It is caused by one scale of the cuticle peeling off to make way for another. Cracks in the lips are apt to become very deep and a delicate lining of the most of the time. Cracks upon the hands, also, appear without apparent cause. A fissure opening in the skin across the bridge of the nose, open, remaining this way for some time and leaving a rough, painful and red ridge.

Both chapped hands and lips make one very unattractive and wholly uncomfortable, so it is a wonder that women stand for them. As a rule they are only the result of neglect and carelessness. A few moments each night and morning spent rubbing the hands and lips with some soft cold cream, will keep them soft and natural in appearance, shape and color, even in the coldest weather.

The cause of such troubles is not far to seek, when it is realized that chapped hands and lips always manifest themselves after a period of intense cold and when one has not been taken to keep the lips and hands dry when out of doors. Moisture, gathering on a veil, a careless habit of touching the lips with the tongue will, almost instantly, produce chapped lips.

For both chapped hands and lips on old-fashioned remedy, recommended by our grandmothers, was nothing more than butter. A small piece, cut fine, is slowly poured into a cup. When it has hardened the cake is taken out and kept in a convenient jar or box on the dressing table. Use it night and morning and it will prevent the lips and annoyances that come from chapped lips and hands.

MINERS' MEET IS CALLED OFF

President Lewis Cancels
Call for Wage Conference When Operators
Refuse—Says Meeting
Must Come Eventually.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—The meeting of the coal operators of the central competitive field with officers of the United Mine Workers of America, called to meet at Pittsburgh, Friday, was called off yesterday by John L. Lewis, President of the union.

The Pittsburgh meeting was for the purpose of fixing a date for holding negotiations on a wage agreement to become effective next April, and Mr. Lewis in a formal statement declared the meeting was discarded because of operators refusing to meet with miners.

"It is essential from a standpoint of public interest," Mr. Lewis said, "that a joint meeting of operators and miners be held. In no other way can the problems of the coal industry be solved and in due time circumstances will compel such a meeting."

Mr. Lewis added that the union would be ready to meet with the operators whenever possible, but he said it would have been futile to hold the Pittsburgh meeting because of operators in Western Pennsylvania and the two largest Ohio districts had refused to participate in it.

WM. A. ASHBROOK MAY BE PUT ON NATIONAL COM.

Lewis Ludlow, Washington correspondent of the Columbus Dispatch, says:

Former Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Ohio, is about due for an early comeback on the stage of politics. By reason of the fact that the present Ohio delegation in the national house of representatives is solidly Republican, and therefore Ohio is not represented on the Democratic national congressional committee, a suggestion that an honorary member of the committee be appointed from Ohio is now under consideration. If the plan is finally approved it is expected that Ashbrook will be named the appointee. One reason for this is that the Democratic leaders were unanimous in their belief that Ashbrook will be elected to Congress next year, and then his status could be changed easily and naturally from an honorary membership to that of a regular member of the congressional committee.

The Democratic congressional committee is now in progress of reorganization for the battle next year, which is to determine whether the Democrats or the Republicans will control the house of representatives during the Sixty-eighth congress. Inasmuch as Ohio is to be one of the principal battlegrounds of the 1932 congressional campaign, it is considered desirable and important that the Buckeye state shall be represented in the membership of the congressional committee and the only feasible way to achieve that end is to appoint an honorary member for the state of Ohio.

If Ashbrook is appointed he will be to all intents and purposes, except in name, an active member of the committee. He will be looked to for advice in the assignment of speakers and the distribution of funds to the Ohio congressional districts and in all other matters that would have a bearing on the campaign in Ohio.

GAS COMPANY WILL INSPECT CITY LINES

Notwithstanding the fact that the year just closed has been one of the most unprofitable in the history of the natural gas industry, this early in the new year the Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company and associated companies are going forward with a project that will entail the expenditure of a vast sum of money, and which will only to the Newark, Natural Gas and Fuel company and all the towns served by the Logan direct or by wholesale contracts.

Late last year the Logan company began an inspection of its western field, gathering and transportation lines up to municipal boundaries. This work is going forward as rapidly as thoroughness will permit and will be continued until the whole system extending over a very great area of Ohio is thoroughly inspected, and repairs made that will reduce leakage to a minimum.

In addition to this great undertaking with its attendant heavy expense, the Logan company and Newark company are now setting about to inspect the local business district and this activity will extend to all municipalities upon the Logan system.

The business district or community centers of a municipality afford a much greater hazard for accidents and explosions by reason of people congregating in large numbers in mercantile establishments, theaters, public buildings and upon the sidewalks. The recent explosion in Columbus is illustrative. Business district property is constantly undergoing remodeling or rebuilding, streets are more frequently repaired and this often requires changes in existing piping and it is not unusual that such work results in leakage in gas and water pipes, and escape of electric current.

Realizing the greater risk in such sections, but at the same time disregarding the cost entailed the Newark company in conjunction with the Logan has placed a corps of experts to work making a thorough test and inspection of all existing lines and services of consumers in our business district, says a statement issued by the company.

"It is quite evident that the Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company," the statement continues, "was earnestly sincere when it promised an intensive campaign to conserve gas and put its house in perfect order when it was granted higher rates, because it has spent an enormous sum of money on main line repairs, field and gathering line inspection and repairs, and is now adding this additional work already involved. It is also stated that as soon as it is practical to do so this same inspection and repair will be extended to the residence districts in all parts of the city."

The officials of the Newark company and the inspectors will appreciate the co-operation of all citizens in the districts under inspection to report all leaks or evidence of leaks.

MUMMY'S VANITIES ARRIVE IN LONDON
London.—A consignment of eastern vanity bottles 2,000 years old has just reached London. Some were found with mummies of Egyptian women of fashion; others came from a Roman tomb in Nazareth. They are stibium pots from the toilet tables of vanished beauty. Stibium is a preparation of finely powdered antimony with which the Egyptian women darkened their eyelids and penciled their eyebrows. It came in small glass bottles, some of which were found with the mummies. They shine with beautiful prismatic tints of rich gold, purple, blue and red. When they arrived, they were full of desert sand. Held against the light, they show that a dark deposit has eaten its way into the glass; it is 20-centuries old eye paint.

RUSSIA DOES NOT WANT TO TALK OF IT

Riga.—Russia does not wish to hold a wireless discussion with Great Britain of its debts to the Allied nations. This is the purpose of a note which George Chitcherine, Bolshevik foreign minister has sent Leonid Krassin, the Russian minister of trade and commerce, according to the Rosta agency. This was in reply to a request by Great Britain for more information concerning the debts which Russia would recognize.
Chitcherine said this subject was too complicated and important for discussion by wireless and added that the matter should be brought up at a world conference which he has proposed.
Chitcherine added that this conference would be successful only if mutual trust existed between the first indicative of this would be "the stoppage of systematic exclusion of Russia from international conference touching her interests."

RUSSIANS MUST AID THEMSELVES

Must Be Their Own Electrician, Tailor, Plumber And Carpenter.

Moscow.—Every day life in Russia is a very practical lesson in self help. When the central heating apparatus fails, and heating plants which have not been repaired for seven years often fail, one buys a sheet iron stove and pipe in the market, thrusts a pipe out through his window, searches for high-priced wood in the market, cuts it and builds a fire.
If the electric light bulbs burn out, or the fuses blow, or the wires wear out, one goes to the market for the necessary supplies, gets out one's pocket knife and becomes one's own electrician.
It is a great tragedy when shoes or clothing wear out or require repairing. Tailors have no cloth and shoemakers have no leather. These things and many others in the market can be repaired only in the street, where it requires many hours to place a pair of shoes and sufficient leather for half-soles in the hands of a cobbler who will sew them on.

The lack of serviceable new cloth in the markets has put work clothes at a premium. It is greatly bought by men and women who have it turned and renovated. Tailors are so busy with this sort of work that it frequently requires several weeks to have repairs made.
Numbers and numbers lack supplies. Small contractors can frequently supply workmen to make building repairs of minor character, but they are seldom able to provide the required materials. This necessitates hours of search through the street stalls scattered along miles of boulevards. The casual organization and confidence which are necessary to effect the assembling of large stocks are still lacking.

PARIS GIRLS DON SPINSTER BONNETS
Paris.—St. Catherine's Day is the day when all young French girls who have attained the age of 25 without finding a husband put on the bonnet of spinsterhood, although this does not necessarily mean that they forthwith abandon all hope of finding a suitable mate.
The girls who work in the Paris dressmaking establishments make high bonnets on that day, and those among them who had become "St. Catherine's" wore lace bonnets made by their comrades.
In groups they walked along the boulevards, generally five or six abreast, arms linked, with the bonnet wearers in the front rank and all their escort of friends following. Their walking girls vied with each other in the fancy costumes they wore.
Wedding groups are popular, with the "bride" beautifully dressed in silks, accompanied by a "bridegroom" in comic costume.
The Three Musketeers, with cloak and sword, slouched hat and white feather, were to be seen walking proudly along the boulevards followed by their admiring friends, but the Musketeers' voices proclaimed them girls.

SUGGESTS WHEAT AS UNIT OF EXCHANGE

Budapest.—When a stabilizing unit of exchange instead of money based on imaginary reserves of gold or silver, was suggested by Secretary of State Vician to the Syndicate of Hungarian Farmers at a recent meeting.
He proposed that banknotes of the value of a "quintal" or 220 pounds of wheat, be issued. Wheat as a standard of value already has received some recognition. Many farm leases are made on that basis and, in the new agrarian reform measures, taxes have been specified as payable in wheat-values.

MINERS' MEET IS CALLED OFF

President Lewis Cancels Call for Wage Confer- ence When Operators Refuse—Says Meeting Must Come Eventually.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 5.—The meeting of the coal operators of the central competitive field with officers of the United Mine Workers of America, called to meet at Pittsburgh, Friday, was called off yesterday by John L. Lewis, President of the union.

The Pittsburgh meeting was for the purpose of fixing a date for holding negotiations on a wage agreement to become effective next April, and Mr. Lewis in a formal statement declared the meeting was dissolved because of operators refusing to meet with miners.

"It is essential from a standpoint of public interest," Mr. Lewis said, "that a joint meeting of operators and miners be held. In no other way can the problems of the coal industry be solved and in due time circumstances will compel such a meeting."

Mr. Lewis added that the union would be ready to meet with the operators whenever possible, but he said it would have been futile to hold the Pittsburgh meeting because operators in Western Pennsylvania and the two largest Ohio districts had refused to participate in it.

WM. A. ASHBROOK MAY BE PUT ON NATIONAL COM.

Lewis Ludlow, Washington correspondent of the Columbus Dispatch, says:

Former Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Ohio, is about due for an early comeback on the stage of politics. By reason of the fact that the present Ohio delegation in the national house of representatives is solidly Republican, and therefore Ohio is not represented on the Democratic national congressional committee, a suggestion that an honorary member of the committee be appointed from Ohio is now under consideration. If the plan is finally approved it is expected that Mr. Ashbrook will be offered the appointment. One reason for this is that the Democratic leaders were unanimous in their belief that Ashbrook will be re-elected to congress next year and then his name could be changed easily and naturally from an honorary membership to that of a regular member of the congressional committee.

The Democratic congressional committee is now in process of reorganization for the battle next year, which is to determine whether the Democrats or the Republicans shall control the house of representatives in the Sixty-eighth congress. Inasmuch as Ohio is to be one of the principal battlegrounds of the 1933 congressional campaign, it is considered desirable and important that the Buckeye state shall be represented in the membership of the congressional committee and the only feasible way to achieve that end is to appoint an honorary member for the state of Ohio.

If Ashbrook is appointed he will be to all intents and purposes, except in name, an active member of the committee. He will be looked to for advice in the assignment of speakers and the distribution of funds to the Ohio congressional districts and in all other matters that would have a bearing on the campaign in Ohio.

GAS COMPANY WILL INSPECT CITY LINES

Notwithstanding the fact that the Newark Natural Gas and Fuel company is the most unprofitable in the history of the natural gas industry, this early in the new year the Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company and associated companies are going forward with a project that will entail the expenditure of a vast sum of money, and which will apply to the Newark Natural Gas and Fuel company and all the towns served by the Logan direct or by wholesale contracts.

Late last year the Logan company began an inspection of its wells, its field, gathering and transportation lines up to municipal boundaries. This work is being carried forward as thoroughly as possible and will be continued until the whole system extending over a very great area of Ohio is thoroughly inspected, and repairs made that will reduce leakage to a minimum.

In addition to this great undertaking with its attendant heavy expense, the Logan company and Newark company are now getting about to inspect the local business district and this activity will extend to all municipalities upon the Logan system.

This business district or community centers of a municipality afford a much greater hazard for accidents and explosions, by reason of people congregating in large numbers in restaurants, theatres, churches, public buildings and the sidewalks. The recent explosion in Columbus is illustrative. Business district property is constantly undergoing remodeling or rebuilding, streets are more frequently repaired and this often requires changes in existing piping and it is not unusual that such work results in leakage in gas and water pipes, and escape of electric current.

"Realizing the greater risk in such sections, but apparently disregarding the cost entailed the Newark company in conjunction with the Logan has placed a corps of experts to work making a thorough test and inspection of all distributing lines and services of consumers in our business district, says a statement issued by the company.

"It is quite evident that the Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company," the statement continues, "was earnestly sincere when it promised an intensive campaign to conserve gas and put its house in perfect order when it was granted higher rates, because it has spent an enormous sum of money on main line repairs, field and gathering line inspection and repair and is now in perfect order when it is asked to pay for the additional expense to that already involved. It is also stated that as soon as it is practical to do so this same inspection and repair will be extended to the residence districts in all towns served."

"The officials of the Newark company and the inspectors will appreciate the co-operation of all citizens in the districts under inspection to report all leaks or evidence of leaks."

MEER NATIONS GROW RESTLESS

Subjected Races Showing Unusual Strength in Past Few Years.
Refusal to Engage in Wars Credited With Rapid Growth.

(By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—With India harassing the British government by means of its non-cooperation movement, with Egypt in turmoil with the negroes forming a world association under Marcus Garvey, with the Jewish Zionist movement well under way, and with the Chinese patiently asserting their right to be let alone, inviting all the other nations of the earth to go out the open door and close it after them, this seems truly to be an epoch of self-assertion on the part of oppressed peoples.

The dominant nations absorbed in their own debts and wars, seem hardly aware of the widespread and spontaneous character of this movement toward self-assertion on the part of the peoples who have won freedom for centuries. Servitude, exploitation, personal and national prejudice, contempt, these peoples have all known some or all of these oppressions. Barring the Hebrews, who are a case unique, they have all been known as inferior or subjected races.

Now all of them, but especially the Indians and Chinese, are showing signs of a growing inchoate strength. They lack a unified purpose, and they probably will lack these things for generations yet. But it is in these things that they are growing. And the strength they have is in immense racial vitality and persistence. While the dominant nations of the earth are becoming vast polyglot mobs in which the best strains tend to decrease while the poorer increase, the Chinese and the East Indians retain their racial identity and homogeneity. They conquered, owned, and exploited by alien races; they are carved into spheres of influence and protectorates; they are subjected to massacres and famine and oppression; and yet by tending steadily to the business of raising babies and crops they have maintained distinctive peoples with distinctive ideas.

An Englishman or an American these things may be a Mediterranean or a Northerner. He may be of an indigenous family or he may be an immigrant of a few years ago. The streets of all of the principal cities of the great western nations are streets of Babel. In them swarm vast motley crowds of men who have nothing in common except their hunger for food and their melting pots where the ingredients do not fuse are these great cities, so that an American or an Englishman may be anything. But when you go to China or to India, you know exactly what you mean. The word summons a picture of a distinctive kind of man. These peoples are united in aspiration and purpose because they are uniform in blood and tradition.

That is one great advantage they have over the nations which now dominate the earth. When you saw Great Britain you mean a government, a people, and a civilization. When you saw China or India you mean a people, solid and homogeneous, and that is a thing as real and permanent as a continent or an ocean.

The reasons why these peoples persist, retain their racial identity and multiply, while the occidental nations lose their identity, and die out at the top, seem to be twofold. In the first place, they do not go in for war and in the second place they have no talent for industry.

War, as has been pointed out a great many times in the last few years, really threatens the destruction of western civilization. The Napoleonic wars weakened France, Germany, and Austria, and have reduced the average height of Frenchmen several inches. The Franco-Prussian war was a further blow. France has not, in any line of human endeavor, reached the greatness she had before these wars.

The civil war in its effect on our own South is one of the most striking examples of the result of prolonged conflict. But all of these wars were minor affairs compared to the one just passed. We know that it killed ten million good young men, that it crippled the principal European nations in every department of human endeavor, and that it left them all in a backwash of reaction by destroying the young source of progress; but its full effect against the industrial system, more, these nations are now steadily moving toward another war, and one which will inevitably be far more destructive than the last.

What will their strength and status be at the next world war? Meantime, the "inferior peoples" steadily refuse to impair their racial vitality by killing each other. The Chinese, for example, simply will not fight. They are superior to carrying on a civil war now, but it is so mild that few men are killed in it, while communications and business are not interfered with. During the world war, the Chinese were used as laborers, but they found impossible to make combat troops out of them. The Chinese in some respects show great courage, but the murder of their fellow humans is simply a business for which they have no stomach.

Among the East Indians there is more of a warlike tradition, but the present non-cooperative movement against the industrial system, of building up the Chinese civilization on its own ancient foundations, so to speak. The Gandhi movement is also to some extent a revolt against the industrial system. For example, the people are urged not to buy factory-made clothing, but to return to the making of their native fabrics by hand.

become badly entangled in its own mechanism, so that all of the industrial nations are subject to periodical spells of "hard times," due to the failure of the system to work properly. The whole world is now thrown out of gear by the failure of the industrial system to function.

Thus the oppressed peoples, being largely free from organized war and organized industry, have advantages in the conservation of their racial vitality, which are already telling and which will tell even more in the future. It would seem that the dominant nations have better to learn something from the oppressed ones while the learning is still good. A couple more world wars, and the old Biblical prophecy may come to have a reported living meaning: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

HIGH QUINTET MEETS EAST

Columbus Team to Play Newark Basketballers Friday Night — Second Team Plays Frazzysburg.

The Newark high basketball team will clash with Columbus East high basketball quintet at Hickey hall Friday night. The high school basketballers have been practicing hard and while Coach Millor refused to predict the outcome of the game, he feels that the local boys have at least an even chance to add another victory to their growing list.

Local fans were much pleased to hear that Carol Hickey, the fast forward for the high school, would again appear in the lineup.

The high school second team will also play the Frazzysburg basketball team. Coach Millor has a number of promising youngsters on the second squad and they battle, on Saturday evening, the first team of the night.

The games as usual will be played at Hickey hall in South Fourth street and it is expected that a large crowd will attend. The Columbus boys are said to have a strong aggregation.

FRENCH SLANG BEATS ENGLISH

Director of English in Cleveland Schools Says It Originates in Desire for Emphasis.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 5.—French slang is of a higher quality than English slang, which has been improved but little since its invention, according to Dr. Clarence Stratton, director of English in the Cleveland public schools. The French slang is more suggestive and more picturesque than English slang, which is often just plain.

Take the case of George Ruth, the world's champion home-run hitter. For instance, the director continued, "To call him Babe and then translate Babe into Bambino—there's nothing clever in that. But the man who first called a left-handed pitcher a southpaw had a real idea. Likewise, to say a pitcher has a glass arm is clever and descriptive."

"Has somebody handed you a lemon? That's an ancient bit of slang. Likewise, to find yourself in an awful pickle. Probably both expressions originated because of the sour quality of lemons and pickles. They are expressive and suggestive. The boy who first called a girl a peach also had a real idea."

"One of two things always happens to slang. It is discarded quickly or it is incorporated into the language three or four generations later."

"Slang originates in a desire for emphasis. Seeking emphasis, we resort to figurative language. And figurative language at its best, becomes a figure of speech."

Dr. Stratton said he is not an advocate of slang. A constant use of it is the resort of the man or woman too lazy to seek out the proper words.

BILLIARD CHAMP IS CHALLENGED

That "lucy" lies the head that wears a crown, Johnny Layton well knows. Losing his title of world's champion three-cushion billiardist in tournament play, he quickly resigned it in a challenge match, but must defend it within the next 60 days against Alfred de Oro, veteran Cuban challenger.

ENGLISH LORDS DEFEND KING

They Protest Against Powers' Action in Exiling Emperor Charles to "New St. Helena."

London.—Pleas for former emperor of Germany and Austria-Hungary were made in the house of Lords recently when Lord Newton, raising the question of the exclusion of the Hapsburg dynasty from the throne, said that the Hungarian people evidently desired to have a king.

"Why," he asked, "should the Hapsburgs be excluded any more than any dynasty that were still allowed to rule?" How could the attitude of the great powers be reconciled with the principle of self-determination? It was, he added, a gross and intolerable interference with the government of a free nation.

Lords Oranmore and Browne regretted that Britain had agreed to act as jailer for the ex-emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and had become responsible for sending him to a new St. Helena.

Lord Phillimore, an eminent lawyer, asked what authority the powers had for telling the people of Hungary who should be their king or not, or whether they should have a king at all. He protested against any interference in Hungary's internal affairs. He thought it was a mistake to have deposed the Hapsburgs, "because," he said, "with a chastened Emperor on the throne, we would have had a more steady Germany, and have stood a much better chance of getting our money back."

The Earl of Crawford, replying for the government, said that he could not discuss the question of the restoration of dynasties.

Dr. M. Krimsha.

The Amber Soul

As often as you hear and use the word "electricity", did you ever stop to think of its significance or where it came from? Did you know that you would not be using it today but for an accidental happening 3,000 or more years ago.

This is one of the interesting facts brought to mind by a four-minute educational film which is being shown this week at the ALHAMBRA THEATER, called "The Amber Soul." The film is one of a series of twelve being presented at the Alhambra this year, all of them dealing with the subject of electricity. The series was made for the Willard Storage Battery Company of Cleveland. The Newark Service and Battery Station of 11 South 4th street, who is a Willard Service representative, became interested in them and arranged to have them shown in this city.

"The Amber Soul" tells the story of the discovery of the mysterious powerful force that today we know as electricity. Taking the audience back to ancient Greece it portrays how Thales of Miletus, quite by chance, found that amber, when rubbed on a piece of cloth, would attract objects. The Greeks named this attractive power "elektron" which in Greek means amber. Though the real nature of the force differed greatly from the early conceptions of it, the name stuck which explains the presence today of the word "electricity" in the English language.

"The Amber Soul" is capably directed and well staged.

1200 CIVILIANS DRIVE PLANES DURING YEAR

An Increase of 20 Per Cent According to the Report.

It Has Outgrown Romance and Becomes Practical Art.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Civilian flying in the United States increased 20 per cent in 1921 over the preceding year, according to a review compiled by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce for the Department of Commerce at Washington. Twelve hundred aircraft were operated by civilians during the last year, flying a total of more than 4,500,000 miles and carrying approximately 275,000 passengers. The figures are based on authenticated reports to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce from all sections of the country.

"In the last twelve months the aviation has outgrown romance and is now recognized as a practical art," says the review. "The year was crowded with important events, and government, state, municipal officials and transportation experts are agreed that civilian aeronautics must be developed for peaceful transport and as a reserve arm of nation defense."

"The United States Air Mail Service in 1921 made such a record for efficiency on the transcontinental route that it is recognized as a model for civilian aerial transport the world over. Letters have been delivered in New York two days after casual mailing on the Pacific coast. The service has an average of 88.2 per cent efficiency, that is, completed trips on schedule time since it was started in 1918. The air mail has during the last year completed its wireless communication system, the fourteen stations now having radio plants, three operated by the navy department and the others by the air mail service. Last February, a continuous flight, with night flying, was made between San Francisco and New York. Mail leaving the coast at 4:50 p. m., February 22, was delivered in New York at 4:50 p. m., February 23."

"Governors of states and heads of federal bureaus have started campaigns for the acquisition of municipal landing fields. Ordinances regulating aerial traffic have been passed and enforced in scores of municipalities. The American Bar Association, Aero Club of America, Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, Manufacturers Aircraft Association and the National Aircraft Underwriters association, the Society of Automotive Engineers and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics have recognized the necessity for a national aerial code. Their views have found expression in the Wadsworth-Hicks bill now before congress providing for a bureau of civil aviation, in the department of commerce."

"Among the world's records made during the year in America were those of Lt. J. A. Macready of the army air service, who in September reached an altitude of more than 27,800 feet above Dayton, Ohio, parachute drops of from 22,000 to 25,000 feet made by Lt. A. G. Hamilton and Sergt. Enel Chambers, on the army air service, the closest course speed record made by Bert Acosta at the Pulitzer race in Omaha in November when he covered a triangular course of 150 miles at a speed of 176.3 miles an hour. Four passengers were carried to an altitude of 19,500 feet over Port Washington, L. I., in August."

"There were many other spectacular performances during the year. The first American national airway was opened by the army air service between Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., and Dayton, Ohio. The navy department released four million dollars worth of flying boat equipment for the civilian market."

"Aviation units are being organized in the national guard in many of the states of the Union. Improvements were made in airplane design and in the internal combustion engine. Motors were made more reliable, more economical as far as fuel consumption is concerned, and more efficient."

"The aerial torpedo was produced. The 4,300 pound aerial bomb was also made and tested successfully. The armored monoplane carrying machine guns was produced as was the torpedo carrying plane and the navy triplane scout. The gear propeller and multiple drive system was tested successfully at East Greenwich, R. I. It permits the harnessing of three motors to one propeller. Perhaps a dozen different types of small sport machines were produced in this country in 1921."

"The United States navy completed its giant dirigible hangar at Lakehurst, N. J. The navy blimp C-7 was filled with non-inflammable helium gas and flown over Washington, D. C., to demonstrate its practicality. Lt. Ross Kirkpatrick made an American endurance flight record of 18 hours and 6 minutes at Mitchell Field, L. I. The navy launched a seaplane from its first catapult at League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia, preparatory to equipping surface craft with fighting and scout planes."

"Forty-one army airplanes operating on the aerial forest patrol in the National Forests on the Pacific slope made 396 patrols the last season, discovered 822 fires and daily provided protection to 7,220,455 square miles of valuable timber land. Marine corps planes used in revenue service located many stills on the Eastern coast and on one occasion, last September 2, located an entire moonshine village. The bureau of aeronautics was organized by the navy department thereby coordinating the various divisions of naval aviation. The first air brigade was organized by the army service at Langley Field, Va. Flyers patrol the entire Mexican border daily. The airplane rendered invaluable aid in flood, fire and pestilence, one of the most notable occasions being the Pueblo, Colo., flood last year."

"Approximately a score of flying meets were held in this country in 1921. Ten of these were the races, meets and demonstrations on Long Island, in Florida, Hartford, Conn., Baltimore, Chicago, Kokomo Ind., Dallas, Denver, Oakland and Long Beach, Cal. The meet in Iowa and Nebraska and one of the most important, the American Legion Flying Meet at the national convention in Kansas City, Mo., October 31-November 2nd."
